

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Vibration insulators made of heatproof elastomer are integrally molded with an engine joint section of the heatproof resinous throttle body and a motor holder. Thus, engine vibration transferred from an engine intake manifold to the throttle body and the motor can be absorbed by the vibration insulators. Therefore, without increase of components and reduction of assembling workability, the vibration can be suppressed.